

FLOWERS FOR DOG CHILDREN LOVED, KILLED BY AUTO

Entire Neighborhood Mourns
for Jessica, Pet of Policeman
Joseph N. Evans.

FRIENDS' CALL FATAL.

Crushed as She Hesitated Between Responding or Going Back to Her Mistress.

There are many sorrowing children to-day about Broadway and One Hundred and Forty-eighth street because Jessica is dead. Jessica, commonly known as Jess, was a wire-haired Irish terrier, with a pedigree a mile long and a nature that was kindly and an intelligence that was little less than human. Jess was sent from the Southwest kennels in Ireland to Joseph N. Evans, a policeman of the West Forty-seventh street station, who lives with his mother at No. 510 West One Hundred and Forty-eighth street.

How She Was Killed.

The manner of her death makes the sorrow all the greater. Mrs. Evans felt so well last night that she decided to take an airing and left her house using her crutch and cane to support her. Jess trotted at her side from the residence to the corner of Broadway.

of an imposing nature to-day for the faithful pet that knew no enemies and had many friends. Children carried flowers which they placed on the tier of the dog, and then four of them picked up the box and carried it to the subway station. It was sent to Jersey City for burial in a cemetery for dogs.

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.

Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.

Because—It cleanses, soothes and heals the skin, clearing away pimples and blotches over night.

Because—It enables Nature to repair the ravages of disease.

Because—The records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is to-day recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema Cure.

Drop into our store to-day, just to talk over the merits of this wonderful Prescription. We will also explain the value of D. D. D. as a household remedy.

FACING VICTIMS, BOGUS CHECK MAN PLEADS GUILTY

Many Merchants and Manufacturers Identify "R. C.
Platter" in Court.

When Detective Thomas J. Curran went into Part II of General Sessions today taking a prisoner indicted as "R. C. Platter" before Judge O'Sullivan for fraudulently obtaining money from merchants and manufacturers of New York, the man who was indicted for the same crime is not known, but every witness interested in the case identified him as the man who had solicited them to buy bogus checks.

According to the police and the merchant victims "Platter" swindled New York business men out of $2,000 during a brief visit here in February, then he disappeared, all his victims were silent about their losses except Louis Runkel of Runkel Brothers, chocolate manufacturers of No. 41 West Thirtieth street.

"Platter" was located in Hattie Creek, Mich., and brought to New York. After he had pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in the second degree he was questioned by Judge O'Sullivan. He admitted that he had served a year in Geneva County, Ill., prison in 1886.

"Platter" sometimes told victims he was Thomas C. Smith of Brownwood, Tex. As Smith he got a check for $100 cashed by J. W. Heardsley Sons Company, at No. 48 Greenwich street. From the Campbell Soup Company he got $250. The R. A. Patterson Tobacco Company of Richmond, Va., the American Art Works of Cockeekton, O., and scores of other firms suffered from his visits.

"Platter" was remanded by Judge O'Sullivan for sentence on May 4. He must be sentenced to from two and one-half to five years on the charge to which he pleaded guilty.

Dresses which any woman can afford to buy

TOMORROW (FRIDAY) AND SATURDAY

A sale of beautiful Spring frocks and gowns at wholesale prices, and a brief explanation of the circumstances which have made this remarkable offering possible

Of the 2,100 dresses placed on sale by us Saturday and Monday last, more than 1,900 have been sold. That is the finest tribute we could possibly have hoped for, and it more than confirms all of our predictions and claims. In the meantime, however, other manufacturers sought to emulate the example of the particular manufacturer from whom we bought the 2,100 dresses referred to. They solicited our aid in marketing their stocks and offered equally flattering inducements. For, you must not forget that a backward season is no respecter of persons. It affects all manufacturers alike. But there was one thing we could not forget, either, and that is, that we are the distributing centre for quality first and quantity afterward. We can never confuse their relative importance. So that most of the offerings did not interest us. The merchandise, good as it was, fell short of our requirements—and yours. It was, therefore, rejected.

But there was one notable exception. A manufacturer who ranks high in the quality of his productions and the fidelity of his styles offered us a trifle over 1,200 dresses at a price which made the values even superior to those contained in our former purchase from another source. A much greater concession was, of course, both natural and necessary in view of our phenomenal distribution of dresses during the past few days. As a result of this we now have 1,429 dresses (including less than 200 from the former sale) at prices which are lower than those announced Saturday and Monday last—at prices which, in fact, barely cover the cost of production.

Now, we know that you hear a lot about values in these aggressive days of grace and tremendous distribution, but we are not going to let our enthusiasm on these particular values keep you any longer from the perusal of the brief but interesting details which follow. The surest way to be dull is to say it all. We shall content ourselves with the simple statement that no such values in women's dresses have ever before been offered to the women of New York—not in the nine long years or our experience.

Beautiful workmanship—the season's favored fabrics—exquisite models—all the most recent Paris innovations—and every size in every style and every style in every color. As for the values—but read on!
